

Spider Networks Announces the Release of Intralite, Their New Intranet Solution for Small Businesses

Interactive web communications leader launches Intralite, a hosted collaborative suite for small businesses to centralise communications and increase productivity and teamwork

London, May 2, 2008 - Spider Networks, the power behind interactive web communications, today launches nationwide its new Intralite solution for the small to medium sized business market. Intralite was developed especially for small to medium sized businesses who are looking for a secure, feature rich intranet solution. Businesses can now customise their own company intranet to meet their specific communication needs.

Intralite is a fully hosted, secure, always available, web-based solution so there is no need for hardware or software.

Intralite provides a central repository for all company communications providing collaboration and team building with a secure, private domain, a dynamic personal desktop, webmail, document management, multiple calendars and contact lists, discussion forums and collaborative group areas all with a simple management console providing businesses with full control of their new company branded intranet.

Before Intralite, such sophisticated tools were only available to large enterprises with deep pockets and a dedicated IT team. Intralite makes these enterprise-style technologies affordable and available to companies ranging from two people to a few hundred.

"Small businesses are looking for an affordable company branded intranet to help them collaborate and build teamwork throughout the organisation, says Jim Conroy, managing director of Spider Networks. "With a robust enterprise suite starting at £45.99 a month we believe we are delivering on small business requirements."

"With Intralite, businesses can set up a world class collaboration and communication platform for their operation in just a few hours. It is more than just a product. They're really adding to their business capabilities, their operational agility, and their ability to work effectively as a team. We think that gives our customers a tremendous competitive advantage."

Intralite-enabled companies find themselves well-positioned to compete with much larger competitors due to their instant access to key business information assets and tools, enhanced connectivity, productivity, and communication, and their ability to scale upward to seek and attain business growth and success.
